For Amiel it was a choice to become a flower grower....

- 20 years ago Amiel made a decision to become a flower grower
- Coming from the textile manufacturing industry. Establishing a new farm was a great challenge for him and his family.
- In a world where farms are struggling for survival, Amiel built a flower growing operation that today consists of 25 acres, specializing in Phlox and Ruscus

The farm employs around 15 workers, Both locals and internationals and follows the guidelines of fair employment.

Abrmove selection: Ice Cape

As a Phlox grower About 50% of Amiel's production is based on the variety Ice Cape.
